Multicultural Connection Intern

Valuing diverse people, cultures and ideas is a critical part of the education that we offer at Northwestern. Each year, Multicultural Interns are selected to help NWC students make that goal a reality. They meet weekly as a team to discuss how to improve the intercultural atmosphere on-campus, serve in the Intercultural Development Office for 2-3 office hours each week, and they identify individual projects to work on through the year that will make a difference at NWC, mentored by an Intercultural staff member. Each intern receives a stipend for their involvement with the program.

Multicultural Connection Intern Job description & requirements

- 2-4 student positions living in student housing and serving as representatives of the Intercultural Development Office to the campus community
- Work closely with I-Club, La Mosaic, HPNW, or other Intercultural Development Office programs, mentored by Intercultural staff member
- Coordinate activities, educational opportunities, campus awareness; advocate for International & Multicultural students, and campus diversity.
- Contribute to a pro-active diversity dream team.
- Five hours/week, including 2-3 hours each week in Intercultural Office
- Receive $1,250 stipend for the school year

Qualities desired in a Multicultural Connection Intern

- Cross-cultural and/or multicultural experience (or very strong interest)
- Passion for campus diversity and for service to students
- Eager to learn, teachable
- Self-management, organizational, and interpersonal communication skills
- Outstanding vision and commitment to making a difference

Questions? Please contact Kevin McMahan (x7016 or kmcmahan@nwciowa.edu), Grace Rohrer (x7033 or gracelo@nwciowa.edu), or Rahn Franklin (x7327 or rahn.franklin@nwciowa.edu)

The Intercultural Development Office promotes diverse community at Northwestern College by building capacities for justly and lovingly engaging the diverse wholeness of our world, as created and redeemed by God in Christ.